SEEKS BALANCE BY PRAYER

Dr. Hart Tells Women to Get Clinkers Out of Furnace of Life.

"The reason that there are so many accidents among women in New York," said the Rev. M. A. Hart at the regular meeting of the University Y. W. C. A. yesterday, "is because they are not properly balanced because of the extremely high heels they wear. There might be fewer tragedies of other kinds if we were all mentally and spiritually, as well as physically, balanced. Through prayer we get the proper life perspective which keeps us balanced properly."

"Life is a good deal like a furnace at times," continued Doctor Hart. "You have to get the clinkers out of it at times. It is prayer that gets the clinkers out of the soul."

Miss Louise Harrington played a violin solo.

TO VOTE ON CLOTURE

Senate to Decide Question of Limiting Treaty Debate Tomorrow.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Senate adjourned today out of respect to the late Senator Martin of Virginia, whose funeral took place at Charlottesville this afternoon. Many senators attended the funeral.

Meanwhile both sides declared a twenty-four-hour truce in the Peace Treaty fight.

When the Upper House meets Saturday another attempt will be made to limit debate on the Peace Treaty. It is expected. The cloture petition is now pending before the Senate. The vote will be taken at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Two-thirds vote is required to pass the measure. If carries, the limit to debate on the Peace Treaty will begin instantly. After that each senator will be allowed to speak only one hour on the treaty, and no other matter can be brought before the Senate until the Peace Treaty has been voted on.

So far the Lodge program of legislation has gone through without a slip. Three reservations now stand approved by a slight majority, including that on Article Ten, which was adopted in the form which Wilson said would "cut the heart out of the treaty."

All the reservations have passed without any change whatever although scores of amendments and substitutes have been offered by other than the Lodge group.

COAL MINERS' TERMS IMPOSSIBLE, HE SAYS

Secretary of Labor Declares Against 30-Hour Week and 60 Per Cent Raise.

ATTITUDE NOT RIGHT

Operators and Workers Meet in Washington "Peace Conference."

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A joint committee to negotiate prompt settlement of the coal conference was urged by William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, at the opening session of the miners and operators conference here today.

Secretary Wilson suggested that such a committee should be composed of miners' and operators' representatives from all of the coal fields.

"A thirty-hour week for the miners is impossible," Wilson said, "and the 60 per cent increase in pay in view of the high cost of living is also impossible," he said.

Speaking of what he termed the "stand pat" miners, Wilson said they have not taken the right attitude.

More than one hundred miners and fifty operators were at the conference.

"Peace Conference" at Capital.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—With the government acting as mediator, mine operators and representatives of mine workers came together here today in an effort to settle the dispute which caused the recent coal strike.

As the delegates assemble for this "peace conference" there appears to be a dead-lock at the outset. Union representatives are prepared to enter the conference determined to hold out for unconditional victory. Less than complete triumph will mean giving over to the radicals the hold which union leaders have on the men.

Acting President John L. Lewis is expected to insist on full compliance to the miners' demands for a thirty-hour week and wage increases up to 60 per cent.

The operators were solidly in favor of refusing to surrender to the workers, according to early indications.
